

How does the NEASF work?

Donations are received from both individuals and corporations. The monies collected are used to defray skating-related expenses such as ice time, lessons, costumes, equipment, competition fees, ballet, off-ice classes and travel expenses. NEASF charges a small administrative fee (of 2%). The rest goes directly to help the skaters.

How are the funds allocated?

The NEASF Allocations Committee reviews its information about a skater and allocates funds accordingly. Information reviewed includes comments and recommendations of clubs, professionals and donors, as well as the experience and competitive level of the skater.

The mission of the New England Amateur Skating Foundation is to help competitive skaters by defraying some of their ever-increasing expenses. With many skaters in need of support, the Foundation, a tax-exempt organization, offers the opportunity of sponsorship to anyone who would like to help.
